ELE programmes and learner week numbers

Please list all ELE programmes offered in the table below. Please include programme length, if learners are not enrolled on a rolling enrolment basis, applicable awards e.g., IELTS, as relevant, and the total number of learner weeks for each programme for the calendar year prior to submission of the Confirmation of Application, e.g., if the Confirmation of Application is submitted in 2025, the learner week numbers must be for the 2024 calendar year. Please see Appendix One of the Guidance Handbook for ELE Providers for a definition of learner weeks and guidance on how to calculate learner weeks. Please see examples below. In this example, the Study/Work programme learners have been divided into Programme 1, GE and Programme 2, exam preparation. QQI is aware that this is not always so clear cut as in the example, but the example is purely for illustrative purposes. Please include all exams completed by all students, bearing in mind that all Study/Work students are required to complete an exit test under immigration permission/study visa obligations.

Programme	Length*	Award (if applicable)	No of learner weeks in 2024
IELTS preparation x 4 intakes	4 weeks	IELTS	160
Study/Work Programme 1 GE (rolling enrolment)	12 weeks	N/A	1,200

Nationality and learner week numbers

Please complete the table below in alphabetical order and include all categories of international learners, both EU/EEA/Swiss and non-EU/EEA/Swiss. Please do not include Irish/Great Britain/Northern Ireland nationals. Learner nationality and learner week numbers should be for the calendar year prior to the submission of the Confirmation of Application e.g., if the Confirmation of Application is submitted in 2025, learner week numbers should be for the 2024 calendar year. Please see Appendix One of the Guidance Handbook for ELE Providers for a definition of learner weeks and how to calculate learner weeks. The numbers in the table below and above must be the same.

3.3: Operational, Risk and Human Resources Management (ELE Code section 6)

Operational, risk and human resource management systems and procedures are fit for purpose, meet the operational and quality assurance needs of the ELE provider and meet all legislative requirements.

ELE providers are required to demonstrate compliance with the following criteria in the areas of operational, risk and human resources management.

Where criteria are partially complied with, the provider must set realistic plans for full compliance, meeting QQI requirements, where applicable and permissible.

Section 6 criteria	Provider declaration of compliance	Assessment Panel only
6.1 Data management (a) All records for administration, accounts, marketing, staff, learners, partners, clients, associates and other stakeholders are securely stored on the management system	Yes/No/Partial	Yes/No/Partial
6.1 Data management (b) Access is restricted to those members of staff who need to have specific access to data as relevant to their role	Yes/No/Partial	Yes/No/Partial
6.1 Data management (c) There is a supporting back-up document storage system in place in the event that the management system fails.	Yes/No/Partial	Yes/No/Partial
6.1 Data management (d) All data management systems comply with GDPR legislation.	Yes/No/Partial	Yes/No/Partial
6.2 Corporate and academic governance (a) ELE providers ensure that academic decision-making is independent of commercial considerations and influence of business directors, owners, shareholders, trustees or others, and business decisions do not unreasonably compromise the academic integrity and quality of ELE provision	Yes/No/Partial	Yes/No/Partial
6.2 Corporate and academic governance (b) There is a clear distinction of roles between corporate and academic governance within the organisation and there is an academic governance committee in place to ensure this distinction is maintained.	Yes/No/Partial	Yes/No/Partial
6.2 Corporate and academic governance (c) Academic decision-making reflects the interests of learners and the maintenance and enhancement of academic quality within the organisation6.2 Corporate and academic governance	Yes/No/Partial	Yes/No/Partial

6.2 Corporate and academic governance (d) The academic governance committee may be made up of senior members of academic staff at the centre. However, where a provider's scale is such that it cannot support the separation of corporate and academic governance or an academic governance committee internally, alternative arrangements are put in place to ensure objective oversight, such as the use of external ELE expertise	Yes/No/Partial	Yes/No/Partial
6.3 Risk management (a)There is a risk assessment policy and a risk assessment plan in place, and both are reviewed periodically to inform strategic risk planning	Yes/No/Partial	Yes/No/Partial
6.3 Risk management (b) Risk management includes procedures to ensure that the provider is not engaged in activities or partnerships which may undermine the quality or integrity of ELE provision, or associated services, offered.	Yes/No/Partial	Yes/No/Partial
6.4 Change and crisis management Change and crisis management systems are in place that are fit for purpose and provide for the management of essential changes that must be made as needed.	Yes/No/Partial	Yes/No/Partial
6.5 Partnerships and collaborations (a) Where an ELE provider organises or procures a programme which is provided in whole or in part with another ELE provider, or other type of provider, e.g., an activity centre or accommodation provider, the ELE provider establishes and confirms formal agreements with the other provider, which include parallel quality assurance procedures with that provider.	Yes/No/NA/Partial	Yes/No/NA/Partial
6.5 Partnerships and collaborations (b) Where an ELE provider collaborates with other providers, the ELE provider has quality assurance procedures in place to approve collaboration arrangements with other providers and to monitor and review the effectiveness of these arrangements	Yes/No/NA/Partial	Yes/No/NA/Partial
6.5 Partnerships and collaborations (c) Providers apply due diligence and ensure they are aware of any reputational risk to themselves and to the ELE sector associated with prospective providers with which they are considering entering collaboration arrangements.	Yes/No/NA/Partial	Yes/No/NA/Partial
6.5 Partnerships and collaborations (d) ELE providers do not enter any business partnership which may potentially cause a conflict, such as full or part ownership of an employment agency that employs	Yes/No	Yes/No

international learners, or full or part ownership of an agency that recruits international learners, whether for the ELE provider concerned or for other ELE providers
6.5 Partnerships and collaborations (e) Any existing business interest of the ELE provider that may potentially cause a conflict, such as full or part ownership of an employment agency that employs international learners, or full or part ownership of an agency that recruits international learners, whether for the ELE provider concerned or for other ELE providers, is declared. In this case, ELE providers are required to demonstrate how due diligence is applied to avoid any potential risk to the ELE provider concerned, to other ELE providers, to learners of the ELE provider concerned or of other ELE providers, or to the ELE sector in Ireland.	Yes/No/NA/Partial	Yes/No/NA/Partial
6.5 Partnerships and collaborations (f) ELE providers declare any ownership or part ownership of accommodation provision for learners and ensure that all key stakeholders, e.g., students, education agents and teachers, who wish to avail of accommodation services that are owned or part-owned by the provider, are made aware of this fact before contracting any accommodation service with the provider.	Yes/No/NA/Partial	Yes/No/NA/Partial
6.6 Human resources 6.6.1 Staff recruitment (a) There is a systematic approach to the fair, inclusive and transparent recruitment of staff	Yes/No/Partial	Yes/No/Partial
6.6.1 Staff recruitment (partial compliance is permitted for initial IEMAS.) (b) The ELE provider ensures that academic and administrative staff have sufficient expertise and experience to fulfil their designated roles, thereby enhancing the teaching and learning environment for learners and staff	Yes/No/Partial	Yes/No/Partial
6.6.2 Conditions of employment (a) Employment terms and conditions for staff members comply with national employment legislation	Yes/No/Partial	Yes/No/Partial
6.6.2 Conditions of employment (b) Terms and conditions, e.g., remuneration and leave conditions, are commensurate with the qualifications and experience of staff members	Yes/No/Partial	Yes/No/Partial
6.6.2 Conditions of employment (c) Conditions of employment reflect the mission statement and objectives of the provider and support commitment to staff, learners and the organisation	Yes/No/Partial	Yes/No/Partial

6.6.2 Conditions of employment (d) Each member of staff has a written contract, which is updated to reflect changes, e.g., roles, responsibilities, conditions or place of work.	Yes/No/Partial	Yes/No/Partial
6.6.2 Conditions of employment (e) Each member of staff has a written job description, which accurately reflects the current roles and responsibilities of the staff member, and which is updated as evolving needs are identified	Yes/No/Partial	Yes/No/Partial
6.6.3 Academic staff qualifications (partial compliance is permitted for initial IEMAS.) a) All teachers are suitably qualified and experienced to fulfil their designated role.	Yes/No/Partial	Yes/No/Partial
6.6.3 Academic staff qualifications (partial compliance is permitted for initial IEMAS.) b) All academic managers are suitably qualified and experienced to fulfil their designated role	Yes/No/Partial	Yes/No/Partial
6.7 Operational academic management (a) There is an appropriate learner : teacher/teacher trainer ratio for all ELE programmes to ensure participation opportunities on the part of the learners and effective classroom management on the part of teachers and teacher trainers. A maximum ratio of 16 learners/teachers : 1 teacher/teacher trainer is required. For closed groups, a maximum ratio of 18 learners : 1 teacher/ teacher trainer is required. For foundation year programmes, a maximum ratio of 24 learners : 1 teacher is required.	Yes/No/Partial	Yes/No/Partial
6.7 Operational academic management (b) Each centre has a dedicated academic manager. This requirement will not apply in the case of additional spaces that are located within a distance of one kilometre from the main centre and are used as temporary classrooms.	Yes/No/Partial	Yes/No/Partial
6.7 Operational academic management (c) The number of academic managers per centre is proportional to the number of enrolled learners at the centre. A maximum ratio of 160 learners : 1 academic manager per centre is required.	Yes/No/Partial	Yes/No/Partial
6.7 Operational academic management (d) Academic managers may be included on the teaching and training schedule to ensure currency of effective practice. However, once a centre has a minimum of five groups of ELE learners, the academic manager's teaching must be restricted to a maximum of five contact teaching hours per week. An academic manager's duties may include	Yes/No/Partial	Yes/No/Partial occasional substitution teaching hours, when required, up to a maximum of fifteen contact teaching hours in one week at any one time. Beyond this, another teacher must be recruited as needed, and the academic manager must return to delivering a maximum of five contact teaching hours per week.

6.7 Operational academic management (e) Each teacher's schedule has a maximum of thirty sixty-minute contact teaching hours per week at all times of the year. (partial compliance is permitted for initial IEMAS)	Yes/No/Partial	Yes/No/Partial
6.7 Operational academic management (f) Teaching schedules of a maximum of thirty sixty-minute contact teaching hours per week are fully supported by well-designed curricula, syllabuses and course programmes/schemes of work, which are clearly and closely aligned to the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages (CEFR). (partial compliance is permitted for initial IEMAS)	Yes/No/Partial	Yes/No/Partial
6.8 Grievances (a) There is an internal grievance policy in place for staff members, with documented procedures and clear lines of communication and accountability. Access to an external and independent grievance procedure, which is external to QQI, forms part of this process if internal processes do not achieve a mutually accepted resolution.	Yes/No/Partial	Yes/No/Partial
6.8 Grievances (b) Where employment practices form part of the complaint, the state-appointed authority is brought into the process	Yes/No/Partial	Yes/No/Partial

3.5: Supports and Services for International Learners (ELE Code section 8)
Conditions for learners reflect the organisational mission and objectives of the ELE provider and support the provision of high-quality ELE and associated services to international learners. Providers foster an environment which supports the well-being and integration of all learners into the student body and community and ensure a positive learning experience for learners.
Where criteria are partially complied with, the provider must set realistic plans for full compliance, meeting QQI requirements, where applicable and permissible.
8.1 Learner support and welfare (a) There is/are a suitably trained member(s) of staff responsible for learner support and welfare.	Yes/No/Partial	Yes/No/Partial
8.1 Learner support and welfare (b) Providers have a Welfare Support Policy in place that is designed to support international learners in instances of emergency or hardship.	Yes/No/Partial	Yes/No/Partial
8.2 Learner orientation and induction (a) Initial orientation information is sent to learners prior to their arrival, e.g., transport and accommodation services	Yes/No/Partial	Yes/No/Partial
8.2 Learner orientation and induction (b) Providers ensure that inductions are offered to learners on arrival at the centre and that they are appropriate and accessible to all learners.	Yes/No/Partial	Yes/No/Partial
8.2 Learner orientation and induction (c) Learner groups are multi-lingual with a variety of different language speakers in order to optimise English language learning opportunities. Where this is not possible, ELE providers ensure that learners and other stakeholders are aware of this fact before enrolment.	Yes/No/Partial	Yes/No/Partial
8.3 Learners requiring entry visas and/or immigration permissions (a) (i)-(vi) (a) Further induction and information dissemination is required for non-EU/EEA learners requiring entry visas and/or immigration permissions. This induction must be clear and accessible and contain coverage of areas including, but not limited to, the following: (i) entry visas and/or immigration permission conditions (ii) attendance and punctuality (iii) absenteeism and consequences, including	Yes/No/NA/Partial	Yes/No/NA/Partial expulsion (iv) sick and bereavement leave (v) holidays (vi) assessment

8.4 Accommodation (a) All accommodation offered by ELE providers meets ELE Code requirements.	Yes/No/NA/Partial	Yes/No/NA/Partial
8.4 Accommodation (b) ELE providers also offer advice in relation to obtaining accommodation not offered by providers.	Yes/No/NA/Partial	Yes/No/NA/Partial
8.4 Accommodation c) ELE providers declare any possible conflict of interest: where accommodation is owned/managed by the ELE provider, or by a partner of the ELE provider, this must be declared to learners and other stakeholders before they book the accommodation.	Yes/No/NA/Partial	Yes/No/NA/Partial
8.4 Accommodation (d) ELE providers ensure that all accommodation offered by providers to learners is suitable and appropriate for learners to live and study in comfortably.	Yes/No/NA/Partial	Yes/No/NA/Partial
8.4 Accommodation (e) ELE providers ensure all information sent to learners, education agents, recruitment partners, consultants, parents and other stakeholders is clear, accurate, transparent, accessible, relevant and up to date. Where there is any potential issue in finding suitable accommodation for learners, providers ensure that this information is made available to learners, education agents, recruitment partners, consultants, parents and other stakeholders, prior to a learner's enrolment on the programme.	Yes/No/NA/Partial	Yes/No/NA/Partial
8.5 Safeguarding (a) (i)-(iii) (a) ELE providers who recruit learners who are minors are responsible for ensuring all legislative obligations are met in relation to the following areas: (i) safeguarding. (ii) Garda vetting for all relevant members of staff who work with learners who are minors; (iii) approved safeguarding training for all relevant members of staff. Where ELE providers have agreements with external accommodation providers, the ELE provider is responsible for ensuring that all relevant members of staff of the accommodation provider have completed Garda vetting	Yes/No/NA/Partial	Yes/No/NA/Partial

8.5 Safeguarding (b) There is a safeguarding policy, and procedures, in place, and a dedicated member(s) of staff to manage all areas of child welfare and protection, including required approved safeguarding training for all relevant members of staff.	Yes/No/NA/Partial	Yes/No/NA/Partial

3.6: Marketing and Recruitment (ELE Code section 9)
ELE providers recruit international learners, whether directly or with recruitment agents, in a transparent and ethical manner. They ensure that clear, accurate, transparent, accessible, relevant and up to date information is provided in all marketing and promotional materials.
Where criteria are partially complied with, the provider must set realistic plans for full compliance, meeting QQI requirements, where applicable.
9.1 Marketing Information (a) ELE providers ensure that clear, accurate, transparent, accessible, relevant and up-to- date information is available to learners, education agents, recruitment partners, consultants and other stakeholders in all promotional materials and on the website.	Yes/No/Partial	Yes/No/Partial
9.1 Marketing Information (b) ELE providers (i) endeavour proactively to understand the information needs of prospective international learners, education agents, recruitment partners, consultants and other stakeholders. (ii) ensure that information provided to potential international learners about the provider and their programmes and other services is clear, accurate, transparent, accessible, relevant and up to date. This includes information about the intended purpose of the ELE programme e.g., to prepare a learner for further study, a proficiency ELE examination or specific employment, with intended learning outcomes; (iii) ensure that all information is provided in a way that is accessible to international learners and assists them in making informed decisions. This information should support international learners in understanding all matters related to an ELE programme prior to enrolment. If provided in a language other than English, it is the responsibility of the ELE provider to ensure that the information is clear, accurate, transparent, accessible, relevant and up-to-date. (iv) where applicable, information should be provided on the recognition of ELE	Yes/No/Partial	Yes/No/Partial proficiency examinations, both in the state and internationally. (v) accurately represent their company and facilities in all marketing and promotional materials and ensure that no false or misleading information is given or implied. For example, if there is the possibility that a learner may have an afternoon schedule of ELE lessons instead of an expected morning schedule, this information is included. (vi) provide contact details for an appropriate person(s) to provide assistance with queries from international learners prior to enrolment, e.g., the enrolments officer or student welfare officer; (vii) provide details of the arrangements in place for the protection of enrolled learners under Section 65 of the 2012 Act as amended.

9.1 Marketing Information (c) Information provided on marketing materials includes, but is not limited to, the following: (i) details of all services offered by the ELE provider. (ii) current dates for programmes, a current academic calendar and information on rolling enrolment procedures. (iii) information regarding the corporate structure of the organisation, i.e., if it is an independent organisation, a branch of an international or multinational company, a provider with a number of centres, whether nationally and/or internationally, or part of a franchise. (iv) accreditation bodies, associations, organisations or examining bodies that ELE providers are members of or are recognised by. These are clearly and accurately represented so that they are easily understood by learners and other stakeholders. Where appropriate, weblinks to accreditation bodies, associations, organisations or examining bodies are made available, as well as any centre numbers or affiliation status. 2.3.5 Attendance at briefings and conferences (a) A member of the academic management staff attends scheduled QQI briefings, which may be held online or in person.	Yes/No/Partial	Yes/No/Partial
2.3.5 Attendance at briefings and conferences (b) A member(s) of the academic staff attend(s) relevant training and development sessions and conferences in Ireland, and learnings are cascaded to colleagues in CPD sessions.	Yes/No/Partial	Yes/No/Partial
2.3.5 Attendance at briefings and conferences (c) ELE providers sponsor academic staff members to attend events and conferences, and learnings are cascaded to colleagues in CPD sessions.	Yes/No/Partial	Yes/No/Partial

teacher trainers.
2.3.6 Operational academic management (b) The number of dedicated full-time academic managers per centre is proportional to the number of enrolled learners at the centre at any one time during operational hours.	Yes/No/Partial	Yes/No/Partial
2.3.6 Operational academic management (c) Teaching schedules of a maximum of thirty contact teaching hours per week are fully supported by well-designed curricula, syllabuses, and schemes of work, which are closely aligned to the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages (CEFR). (partial meeting is permitted for initial IEMAS)	Yes/No/Partial	Yes/No/Partial
2.3.6 Operational academic management (d) There is an effective system in place to substitute teachers and teacher trainers as required.	Yes/No/Partial	Yes/No/Partial
2.3.6 Operational academic management (e) Academic managers are responsible for the monitoring of all academic administrative documentation, which is stored on the school management system.	Yes/No/Partial	Yes/No/Partial
2.3.6 Operational academic management (f) Records of work completed in class are recorded in sufficient detail (i.e., to enable another teacher to understand what has been completed) on the management system and this is monitored by academic management staff. Follow-up work with teachers is completed when records are insufficient.	Yes/No/Partial	Yes/No/Partial
2.3.6 Operational academic management (g) Compliance with copyright and other intellectual property rights legislation is monitored by academic managers.	Yes/No/Partial	Yes/No/Partial
2.3.7 Teaching and learning (a) Teachers plan and deliver ELE programmes in a learning environment that is appropriate and of a sufficient standard to facilitate learners' achievement of the intended learning outcomes.	Yes/No/Partial	Yes/No/Partial
2.3.7 Teaching and learning (b) Lesson planning, teaching approaches, methods and skills reflect the ELE provider's philosophy, mission statement and strategic objectives for the organisation and help learners meet their language learning objectives.	Yes/No/Partial	Yes/No/Partial
2.3.7 Teaching and learning (c) Lesson planning and teaching approaches reflect the ELE provider's commitment to the close alignment of the	Yes/No/Partial	Yes/No/Partial

provider's curriculum, syllabus and course programme to the CEFR. (partial meeting is permitted for initial IEMAS)
2.3.7 Teaching and learning (d) Lesson planning and teaching skills are core competences that are developed on initial teacher training courses and further developed and fine-tuned as a teacher develops their skills in the organisation.	Yes/No/Partial	Yes/No/Partial
2.3.7 Teaching and learning (e) Design and delivery of lessons is monitored by academic managers.	Yes/No/Partial	Yes/No/Partial
2.3.7 Teaching and learning (f) Academic managers, senior teachers and teacher trainers help newly qualified and less experienced teachers to continue to develop lesson planning and teaching skills and support newly qualified and less experienced teachers when planning and teaching.	Yes/No/Partial	Yes/No/Partial
2.3.7 Teaching and learning (g) There are developmental observation systems, e.g., self- and peer observations, in place to help all teachers and teacher trainers learn from each other in relation to approaches, skills, techniques, and to help less experienced teachers learn from more experienced colleagues.	Yes/No/Partial	Yes/No/Partial
2.3.8 Lesson planning (a) Teachers plan lessons with clear intended learning outcomes, with reference to the curriculum, syllabus, course programme/schemes of work, learner needs and course materials, and planning is clearly and closely aligned to the CEFR. (partial meeting is permitted for initial IEMAS)	Yes/No/Partial	Yes/No/Partial
2.3.8 Lesson planning (b) When lesson planning, teachers demonstrate an ability to: (i) take learner needs, interests and cultural background into account. (ii) incorporate a variety of teaching approaches as appropriate. (iii) formulate clear and achievable intended learning outcomes. (iv) formulate coherent and achievable stages and stages aims. (v) consider learner-centredness. (vi) for language skills: formulate detailed language analysis of meaning, form, pronunciation (and	Yes/No/Partial	Yes/No/Partial appropriacy, as necessary), considering learner participation, and detailed anticipated problems. (vii) for skills: focus on achievable intended learning outcomes in terms of learner development of sub-skills. (viii) include a variety of interaction patterns to support learner participation and effective classroom interaction. (ix) incorporate authentic use of language. (x) incorporate self- and peer evaluation by learners; (xi) include content and language feedback following speaking/writing stages. (xii) adapt course book materials and design materials, including authentic materials, depending on learner needs and interests and intended learning outcomes. (xiii) include some reflection on the lesson and learning.

2.3.9 Lesson delivery (a) Lessons are delivered with clear reference to the syllabus, learner needs and CEFR 'can do' descriptors, as well as course materials. (partial meeting is permitted for initial IEMAS.)	Yes/No/Partial	Yes/No/Partial
2.3.9 Lesson delivery (b) Teaching skills demonstrate teachers have developed and continue to develop core competencies, including, but not limited to, the following: (i) an understanding of the need to empathise and personalise with learners and to generate rapport; (ii) an understanding of the need to promote effective learner training and study skills; (iii) an understanding of effective classroom management skills, including, but not limited to, the following areas: elicitation, task setting and instructions, suitable classroom layout, management of materials and resources, and management of learners and the lesson; (iv) an ability to monitor, correct and manage feedback, including management of emergent language; (v) an ability to evaluate learning and assess achievement of intended learning outcomes or progress towards these; (vi) an ability to adapt approaches and techniques in accordance with learner needs and learning	Yes/No/Partial	Yes/No/Partial preferences; (vii) an awareness of inter-cultural diversity and needs; (viii) an awareness of the language needs of learners, depending on their first language influences and interferences. (ix) an awareness of differentiation.

2.3.10 Online provision (a) Where online provision is offered, ELE providers can demonstrate that teachers have been suitably trained in effective lesson planning and teaching skills for synchronous and asynchronous contexts, as relevant, including specific training on materials design, effective use of the online platform(s) and tools, effective classroom management and interaction, monitoring, and feedback in the online classroom. (iii) formative and summative assessment. (iv) learner age, where relevant e.g., teens, young adults, over 30s. (v) learner interests and needs.	Yes/No/Partial	Yes/No/Partial

(vi) prior learning of learners. (vii) contact and guided learning hours to complete a given programme. (viii) materials, including essential and suggested supplementary resources. (ix) self-study and guided learning opportunities. (x) opportunities for learner decisions on input, depending on interests and needs. (xi) adjustment and modification options at different stages, based on learner and teacher feedback and evolving needs. (xii) learner training. (xii) opportunities for learners to develop cultural awareness and to learn about life in Ireland – ideally, the programme includes lessons that are connected to the events programme. (xii) pathways to higher education. (xv) employment opportunities. (xvi) learner development of an understanding of study and academic integrity conventions. (xvii) learner development of learner independence and learner training strategies. (xviii) opportunities for learners to practise English outside the classroom. (xix) remedial action opportunities for programme completion. (xx) reflection and evaluation (partial meeting of (i) is permitted for initial IEMAS)
2.4.1.3 Curriculum, syllabus and course programme/schemes of work reviews Curriculum, syllabus and course programme/schemes of work reviews are periodically carried out by the academic management and teaching team(s) as needed in order to. (i) meet evolving needs of the ELE provider, e.g., new programme and learner types. (ii) meet evolving needs and interests of learners. (iii) incorporate evolving practice and approaches. (iv) incorporate changes made as a result of feedback from teachers, teacher trainers, learners, and other stakeholders. (v) include new materials, which are approved by	Yes/No/Partial	Yes/No/Partial

the academic governance committee.
2.4.2 Assessment systems (a) The provider's assessment framework (i) establishes the provider's approach to assessment of learners in both external proficiency examinations, and in-house formative and summative assessments. (ii) is clearly and closely aligned to the intended learning outcomes of each programme, expressed in 'can do' descriptors from, or adapted from, the CEFR. (iii) meets learner needs. (iv) addresses assessment administrative arrangements. (v) includes provisions for the reasonable accommodation of learners with specific needs, e.g., dyslexia, visual or auditory impairments. (partial meeting of (ii) is permitted for initial IEMAS)	Yes/No/Partial	Yes/No/Partial
2.4.2 Assessment systems (b) A suitably qualified/trained member(s) of the senior academic staff is/are responsible for assessment within the organisation. (partial meeting is permitted for initial IEMAS)	Yes/No/Partial	Yes/No/Partial
2.4.2 Assessment systems (c) Providers have quality assurance procedures, structures and resources in place to ensure that all assessment types are clear and accessible and that the principles of validity, reliability and impact are well considered.	Yes/No/Partial	Yes/No/Partial
2.4.2 Assessment systems (d) Providers ensure that formative and summative assessments of programmes are designed for the learner group and the skills practised.	Yes/No/Partial	Yes/No/Partial
2.4.2 Assessment systems (e) Providers ensure that learners enrolled on ELE programmes leading to external proficiency examinations are sufficiently prepared for these examinations	Yes/No/Partial	Yes/No/Partial
2.4.2 Assessment systems (f) Learners are informed about when, how, and why they are assessed, and are provided with feedback on their progress and expected outcomes in internal and external summative examinations.	Yes/No/Partial	Yes/No/Partial

2.4.2 Assessment systems (g) Regular tutorials are offered to learners during their course, e.g., following mock, mid-level and end-of-level exams, to help them focus on their learning needs and objectives	Yes/No/Partial	Yes/No/Partial
2.4.2 Assessment systems (h) Remedial support is offered to learners where needed.	Yes/No/Partial	Yes/No/Partial
2.4.2 Assessment systems (i) Learners periodically receive reports from teachers following an assessment, with guidance for further study. Reports are monitored by academic managers.	Yes/No/Partial	Yes/No/Partial
2.4.2 Assessment systems (j) There is an internal appeal process in place for learners who consider an internal assessment result to be unfair or incorrect.	Yes/No/Partial	Yes/No/Partial
2.4.2.1 Types of assessment (a) A clear and accessible placement testing system is in place, which considers the principles of validity, reliability and impact, to ensure that learners are placed in the correct level at the beginning of their course. This test may be taken either before the learner arrives at the centre or on their first day. The placement test includes an assessment of grammar, lexis and speaking, and, if possible, writing, reading and listening. If it is not possible to include writing, reading and listening in the placement test, the academic manager ensures that these skills are assessed as soon as possible following the start of the learner's programme in order to enable the learner and their teacher assess learning needs. Effective corrective systems are in place to ensure that learners who have been incorrectly placed are moved to a more suitable level. This correction is completed as soon as possible, ideally by Day Two.	Yes/No/Partial	Yes/No/Partial
2.4.2.1 Types of assessment (b) Clear and accessible formative and summative assessment systems are in place which consider the principles of validity, reliability and impact. These systems meet learner needs and are tailored to suit the language skills and systems practised on the programme	Yes/No/Partial	Yes/No/Partial
2.4.2.1 Types of assessment (c) Assessment may take different forms, including, for example, recycling, quizzes, tasks, projects and presentations, as well as more traditional test types	Yes/No/Partial	Yes/No/Partial

2.4.2.1 Types of assessment (d) Mock examinations are provided to learners preparing for external proficiency examinations and the principles of validity, reliability and impact are well considered.	Yes/No/Partial	Yes/No/Partial
2.4.2.2 Academic integrity and security (a) Procedures and systems are in place to manage the security and integrity of assessment processes, including: (i) dissemination of information to learners, as appropriate, about academic integrity; (ii) assessment procedures for academic and administrative staff, as required. (iii) standardisation of productive skills assessment. (iv) storing of assessment materials. (v) records of learner assessment.	Yes/No/Partial	Yes/No/Partial
